All night long I've been
2. Open it up and she's riding, riding

lovely lovely

2

D

I should have been there by
eyes of hazel

A

now; but these
green

3

Em

old county roads got a
but I close it up fast 'cause the

lot of deep holes, and the rain gets past, and lays a

4

G

rain keeps pouring
tear down on her

D

down. The cheek. I

5

bridge is washed out and the promised her once that I'd rising rising

never ever

6

D

waters of the river rush
break her heart a-

by and I'm gain; so lord

7

Em

up to my fenders in mu-
take me there, with a

d and to my witness a-
silent prayer, and her

8

G

bove I'm really stuck this loket in my

time
hand"

92

G

I've got a gold heart locket on a silver chain clenched

10

D

tight in my fist in the pouring rain; and the 11

A

Em

only road back home again is all but washed away

13

G

I'm going to cross that river tonight, no

14

D

matter what it takes; al- though I might die

15

A

Em

trying; my true love will re- main... in a

17

G

A

The last thing I remember, I was fearing for my life; she was 21

Em

G

A

calling out my name, from over on the other side

23

Em

G

I reached out to hold her, but the break was just too

A

Em

G

strong; and the silence just gets colder, as the river rages on
